SALISBURY

Mrs. W. C. B. is on the sick list, but is improving.

Miss Minnie Clarkson has returned from her trip to the west.

The Doudle-I club will resume regular meetings this week.

We learn that J. M. Wilhite is preparing to move back to Dalton.

Mrs. Henry Hayes of Owensboro, Kentucky, is here visiting friends.

The prospect for a big turnip crop grows brighter with every shower.

Henry Reiman and wife of St. Louis are spending their vacation here.

Mrs. Alle Gallemore who has been ill since January remains about the same.

Laban Atteberry had a birthday Saturday, but left us to guess the numbers.

Salisbury is to have a fair after all and the last of this month will be the time.

Will the fellow who is wearing our best hat kindly return it and get his worst one.

Mrs. J. W. Dismukes and children of Palacios, Texas came in on a visit Saturday.

Monday was a dark gloomy day here and overcoats were in evidence on our streets.

J. D. Dunn had a spell of dizziness at Sunday school Sunday, but has about recovered.

S. P. Lusher and wife have returned from their visit to the west in their touring car.

M. R. Gromer has returned from an extended trip to Colorado and divined into business again.

Miss Minnie Clarkson the artist, returned Friday from her vacation in which she toured the west.

Saturday was a fine day here after the morning shower and a good crowd was present in the afternoon.

Miss Anna Fitzer went to Brunswick Tuesday to see about an operation for the removal of her tonsils.

Miss Lizzie Potts of Columbia, spent the week end here with her brother Will. She is a great favorite here.

Circuit court convenes here next week, with a rather extensive docket, but the cases are generally of a routine character.

A son of Mrs. Paschen, who lives near the high school, was taken to Moberly Monday to undergo an operation for appendicitis.

The D. L. Hodge family sold out here and moved to Marceline. We wish them success and our loss is our sister city's gain.

Fredolin Putter and family have moved to the Williams farm south-east of town succeeding Bruchalski family moved to town.

Ira Dobson and Ben Johnson came over from Moberly Sunday to visit friends and pick up a good dinner—they went back satisfied.

Mr. Wilkenson of Ottumwa, Iowa, who has been visiting his grand parents, at Feglesong, and wife left for his home Sunday on No. 21.

A heavy fall on rain here Monday noon flooded the streets and caused raging floods that put traffic and travel temporarily out of commission.

The Vitt property on East 2nd, recently purchased by Mrs. Fidler, is being remodeled and modernized, and will make a nice home when completed.

Miss Maurice Adams of Council Bluffs, Iowa, is here attending the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Susan Oestreich, who is a victim of hay fever.

A. J. Payton has returned from a two week's visit to his son in Indianapolis, Ind. He saw lots of good corn but none that came up with old Chariton.

Rev. Mosely and family left this week for their new field of labor, St. Joseph, Mo., followed by the prayers and good wishes of our people for their success.

Our city is sure short on water, but when the new well has been received and put into operation, it is hoped there will be an abundance.

Mrs. J. F. Welch was called to Oklahoma City last week on account of the illness and death of the stepson of her daughter, Mrs. Brittingham of that city. It was a sad case.

Mrs. C. C. Hammond of Mexico, Mo., was here Tuesday on business and while in the city sold a vacant lot to A. Gooding the banker on which he may build a home. It is a nice location and a good home site.

Jeff Paschen who was operated on for appendicitis at Woodland hospital Sunday, died on Tuesday afternoon, aged nineteen years, leaving his mother and several brothers and sisters. He was a nice young man, and we offer our condolence to the family and friends.

We learn the demanded guarantee by the Redpath-Vawter people was not raised and they may not be with us next year. Some of our people felt the talent was running down and the price running up hence did not subscribe. It is a fine system but there are others.

Sam Arnsperger, a farmer west of town came near being the victim of a vicious sow Thursday morning. He went into the hog pasture to feed, when a pig got fastened in the fence and began to squeal. Its mother at once sprang upon him, knocked him down and began to tear his clothing and bruise his person. He finally escaped with most of his trousers gone, and his body badly bruised, but with no broken bones or serious cuts. It was a close call and that old sow will go to the slaughter pen.

Mrs. Ellen Allega, aged 68, relict of C. M. Allega, long deceased, died at her home Sunday night after a brief illness, leaving no sons and 6 daughters, and a host of friends to mourn her death. Funeral services were conducted from Asbury church on Tuesday, conducted by Rev. W. D. McCully of Cameron, Mo., once pastor of that church here. Deceased was a noble woman of great force of character. Her passing removes another pioneer worth of these lines. Another soul hath entered in that holy place where is no sin, to join her husband zone on before awaiting on the other shore.

P. J. CRUSE HAS BIRTHDAY

You all know P. J. Cruse? No? Well for your especial information, will impart the startling news—he's the Chariton County janitor at the court house. He's been there since the year one and he's made a good job of it. If he hadn't he'd been fired long ago. Well, Tuesday the court house gang helped him celebrate his 86th birthday.

The Courier is unable to give a complete itemized number of his birthday remembrances, but they were many and varied.

It is reported that several speeches were made and that Judge J. E. Montgomery was master of ceremonies, with Al Wilkes custodian of gifts. It was deemed necessary to have a guardian of valuables, because Dick Hunt is still looking for an electric fan to replace the one hooked when he wasn't looking.

The two big W's—Warner White and Walter Wright were there serving as a reception committee. C. E. Brumhall failed to answer to roll call and Geo. Dameron was flatly accused of having his eye on the janitor job for a brother-in-law of his cousin's niece. He denied it, however, and now he and Mr. Cruse are again on speaking terms.

The Courier extends congratulations to Mr. Cruse and hopes he'll stick another score of years—just so that the court house will be able to justify claim the distinction of being the best kept county building in the state.

Mackie & Harlan have everything in shoes except feet—Come in.

BAGLEY'S MILL PICNIC WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

The Randolph county farm bureau's annual barbecue was held at Bagley's mill, four miles south of Huntsville. The crowd was estimated about 1500.

Kelly Wright of Columbia, Mo., entertained the crowd with an address. Mr. Sam Jordan of Keytesville delivered a most interesting address. Mr. Jordan has the distinction of being the first farm adviser employed by the county and at a salary of $5,000 per year. The farmers of Chariton county like him so well that they increase his salary every year. Mr. Jordan's speech was well received and heartily applauded many times during its deliverance.—Moberly Evening Democrat.

Miss May Hershey returned to Kansas City, Tuesday.

Read it in the Courier FIRST

Mr. Jarve Bennett of Bennett Bros. grocery is in Kansas City this week.

Miss Ethelyn Fowler will leave Thursday for Columbia, where she will attend the State University.

Mrs. E. P. Ryan of Kansas City came Monday to be with her mother Mrs. T. J. Martin who is seriously ill.

Mrs. Winnie Cox, county treasurer of Cameron County, Texas, came Monday to visit Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Moore and other relatives.

The rains of the past week are becoming altogether too numerous. Farmers are unable to get on the ground to do plowing and all farm work is practically at a standstill.

OBITUARY

Joseph Pratt Hayward died at Fulton, Mo., Sept. 30, 1921.

For some unknown reason his family was not informed of his death until the following Sunday at which time his two sons John and Rucker went to bring the body home.

Some seven years ago Mr. Hayward suffering from a complication of diseases became demented and was sent to Fulton for treatment and though everything was done for him that could be his condition did not improve and at the time of his death he had wasted away until he was only a shadow of his former, stalwart self.

Funeral services were conducted at Asbury Chapel, Sept. 6, at 2 p. m. by Rev. Heaton of Salisbury whose splendid talk from the text, "Teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom," caused us to appreciate more fully what it means to live a useful Christian life.

Joseph P. Hayward was born in Boston, Mass., Jan. 16, 1846, making him at the time of his death, 75 yrs, 7 mos, and 12 days old.

He was married Sept. 23, 1865 to Mary Susan Prewitt. To this union was born three sons and six daughters. The children, Mrs. Pat Wilkerson of Fayette; Mrs. John Goll of Dalton; Mrs. Lee Cuddy of Keytesville; Mrs. Horace Fleming of Dalton; Mrs. C. B. Smith of Rockford; Mrs. Guss Korff of Canon, Okla.; John and Rucker of Salisbury; Joe of Rockford, survive him.

The mother died April 20, 1906.

He was twice married after this, the first time to Mrs. Ed Williams of Salisbury, who died 1908, in 1910 he was married to Mrs. Dalton of Sedalia, who is still living. Besides these he leaves 28 grand children and one sister, Mrs. Wm Sternberger of Kansas City and numerous friends to mourn his loss.

He professed faith in Christ at the age of 25 and united with the M. E. church at Asbury.

His death has caused a wave of sympathy for the relatives of Mr. Hayward.

He was one of the well known families of the community, a citizen always ready to help in any thing for the betterment of his community and one whose standing will make his loss keenly felt but God in his mercy plucked the soul from the diseased body and we should try to say with resignation "Thy Will Be Done."

The large assembly of friends who attended the funeral was a testimony to the esteem in which he was held. The floral tribute which was beautiful in the extreme was also an evidence of love from friends.

The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved family.—Contributed.

THE HESSIAN FLY A MISSOURI MENACE

Unless the farmers of Missouri act intelligently in raising crops the state may lose its position as fifth in the United States in the value of cereals produced, according to A. C. Burrill, a member of the Missouri university agricultural extension board staff, said in St. Louis last week. Careful regard for crops, however, will make this the first state in the Union, he added.

"One of the greatest menaces to the state, and one that will become greater each year if proper steps are not taken to combat it, is the Hessian fly," Burrill said. "This pest has cost the farmers of the state nearly $10,000,000 a year in the last three years."

"There are two important broods of Hessian fly in Missouri each year, one of which appears in September, and the other in April. Both of these are combatted at the same time by planting wheat in October instead of September. To plant successfully in October, however, the plowing should have been done in July to give opportunity for a solid, even compact soil which will prevent freezing of the crop."

"The Hessian fly is about one-fourth the size of a mosquito. It lays its eggs in the young shoot of the wheat seed, a few on each, its maximum egg production being 500. The egg hatches into a small, flattened worm which saps the shoot and develops into a fly after a short dormant period."

"If wheat is planted after the fall flying, danger from the fly will have been obviated. The danger in April is from neighbors who have not observed caution in planting after the flying time of the pest."

To successfully combat the fly, however, it is necessary to bury it by plowing, to prevent it from escaping by pulverizing the soil with a harrow, drag or disc, and to starve it by cultivating the plowed ground to keep down volunteer wheat.

Planting time, according to the bureau agent, varies with the locality, that along the Iowa border being October 1, while along the Arkansas border, it is October 18.

The Hessian fly is said to have infested Missouri about 60 years ago.

SEARCHING FOR DEAD IN CLINTON WRECK

Railroad officials and authorities today were searching the wreckage of several oil cars which crashed thru a wooden railroad bridge south of Clinton, Mo. Monday night for the bodies of hoboes reported to have been in the car.

Fire broke out following the wreck. Trainmen declared there were between 15 and 20 hoboes in the cars and doubted that any of them escaped. The wreckage will not be cleared sufficiently to determine whether this is true for a day or so, however, it was said.

John Gallaher of Salisbury was in town on business Tuesday. While here he found time to call on the Courier force.
